

To Whom It May Concern,

I agree that in-vitro cell cultures are the alternative method for testing poisons and this would eliminate animal testing completely.
Sincerely, David Galton Natick, MA.